

Distance Learning for Continuing Formation

2024 Courses

What Is Included in a Course

Most courses are three sessions of recorded content plus an extra live discussion session with the presenter (which will be recorded for later playback). Some courses have more sessions and some are special single-session presentations.

All courses will link to their own private web page which include:

- additional resources and/or links on the topic.
- the video presentations.
- an audio file of each presentation as well. Participants can download the audio file to their mobile device for use as "podcasting" option as well, receiving another option for taking the course in a way most convenient for them.

Registration is now open.
